Re: Web Version of the Report of the University Committee on Curriculum to Academic Council

Last year, the office of University Curriculum and Catalog began making academic program policies available on the Web.

This academic year, University Curriculum and Catalog is now an integral part of the Office of the Registrar. We are continuing to use the Web as a way of distributing information and making it available to faculty, assistant and associate deans, and others interested in the review of curricular changes via the academic governance system.

Historically, your office has distributed the Report of the University Committee on Curriculum to Academic Council in paper copy to a large constituency list. Therefore, I thought you would want to know that the Web version of the report will be placed on the Web before every Academic Council meeting so our UCC committee members can access it. The report of the September 26th meeting is there now www.msu.edu/unit/apueas/uccweb.htm.

I am sending this information to inform you of our current practice.
